The Axel Lindgren Memorial Trail (ALMT) will remain closed with additional fencing and signage directing people to Parker Creek Trail. Logs, driftwood and debris will be removed from the base of the trail.

Tristan Cole asked about the Trinidad Rancheria's specific concerns about the trails. Naffah stated that the lower part of the ALMT is in bad shape and the Rancheria would like to reroute the trail westward. He also explained that it cuts through the 12.5 acres of study area. He also noted excessive erosion.

Anita Thompson asked about the progress that has been made on the trails since the February 10th closure. Naffah explained that City Planner Trever Parker has been working on the Coastal Development Permit (CDP) and Coastal Commission approval. Nothing physical has been done yet. Thompson noted that trails near the ocean will always suffer from erosion and that safety will always be an issue.

Hopkins asked for clarity regarding the City's liability regarding trails. Naffah explained that usage of trails is "at own risk."

Needham asked why the Tsurai Management Team meetings are closed. Naffah explained that the meetings are closed when they discuss cultural resources. Needham voiced his frustration and noted the lack of repairs over the past 17 years to the ALMT. He also exclaimed that the Parker Creek Trail should not be closed.

West inquired about future maintenance.

Provolt asked if signage had been updated for Old Home Beach.

2. Update on the repair of the base of the Axel Lindgren Trail.

Naffah informed the Committee that the ALMT remains closed. The six-month closure expires in November. Using a Seventh Generation grant the Tsurai Ancestral Society commissioned GHD to create a report. That report will not be available to the City until after it has been presented to the TAS board.

Lindgren noted that the GHD report is a comprehensive redesign plan and includes restructuring the base of the trail. She said the plan is to present the report to the Tsurai Management Team at the November meeting.

3. Update on the Coastal Commission discussion regarding the Van Wycke Trail.

Naffah reported that the Coastal Commission voted not to accept the appeal and gave the City six months to pursue steps toward opening the trail. He said this would require meetings with the Yurok Tribe, Tsurai Ancestral Society, and the Coastal Commission.

Provolt asked if an erosion study had occurred. Naffah said he would talk to the City Engineer to find out when the last geological report took place.

4. Update on Edwards Street striping and crossing zones next year and how it will effect the trails to the harbor, beach and State Park.

Naffah provided an overview of grant-funded crosswalks and striping at Hector Street and at Galindo Street. He said there is also potential for sidewalks.

5. Bench PowerPoint.

West shared the Trails Bench PowerPoint presentation. He also provided a brief overview of the bench policy.

Provolt suggested creating a unique coastal bench style. Hopkins recommended thicker boards or second growth redwood. Mathewson asked about the budget for bench maintenance.

6. Update on trails guideposts.

West provided photos of various guideposts.

Lindgren recommended metal posts that require less ground disturbance. She asked that post information be sent to the Tsurai Management Team.

West will meet with State Park representatives in November. He stressed consistency with signage.

There was a discussion about the State Park sign across from the Cal Poly Marine Lab. Hopkins suggested incorporating native names for trails and locations.

7. Discussion about plans and specifications for trails and signage designs. This could include maintenance and assessment of trail conditions.

West provided photos of various trail signs and asked for ideas.

Provolt would like to standardize the rock foundations on the benches.

West said that he will also talk with State Parks regarding trail maintenance.

Eli shared that a bench on Edwards is currently being restored. He asked about moving it slightly to the east to provide a view.
